REQUESTS FOR RE-REVIEW

Requests should be limited to unusual circumstances and cannot reasonably be addressed by a specific institutional need and be reviewed by tiana@uky.edu.

ASKED QUESTIONS

What to do

Proceed as standard. No review is required.

Proceed as standard through normal approval and payment processes.

The membership or partnership remains unapproved. Review whether a documented academic-freedom exception applies.

Review the examples and documentation requirements below. If the answer remains unclear, contact Tiana before proceeding.

Meaning

Institutionally Mission Critical — approved to proceed as standard.

No Concerns after Review — approved to proceed as standard.

Flagged for Cancellation — not approved as an organization; only a documented case-specific exception may proceed. All organizations have been reviewed. Those that remain on FFC mean they present risk to the institution.

For an FFC organization, institutional support may be permitted on a case-by-case basis when an individual is participating in a formal, documented academic or scholarly role. Approval of one person or activity does not approve a membership/partnership with the organization overall.

Presenting a paper, poster, research, or other scholarly work.

Serving as a panelist, invited speaker, session chair, moderator, or discussant.

Organizing or leading a symposium, session, workshop, or other scholarly content.

Performing formal peer-review, editorial, scholarly committee, or elected leadership service associated with the event or organization.

Participating in another formal teaching, research, clinical, mentoring, or professional-development role directly related to institutional responsibilities.

Holding a membership that is required to present or perform a formal scholarly role — not merely to receive a registration discount.

Examples of an organization's overall institutional mission-criticality may include required accreditation, licensure, or regulatory obligations; essential patient-care, clinical, or research responsibilities; or a formal institutional need that cannot reasonably be met through another organization or approach (required to submit scholarly work or obtain non-substitutable journals, data, research resources, teaching materials, or submission platforms.)

Conference attendance only to observe sessions, network, obtain a discount, or participate without a formal documented scholarly role.

These examples are not exhaustive. If a request appears to involve academic freedom but is not addressed here — or if the reviewer is uncertain — contact Tiana (tiana@uky.edu) before proceeding.

Conference program or agenda listing the individual by name.

Acceptance or confirmation for a paper, poster, presentation, or other scholarly work.

Invitation confirming a speaking, panel, moderator, discussant, leadership, or other formal role.

Confirmation of organizing scholarly content, peer-review service, editorial service, or committee participation.

Evidence showing that membership or access is required for the formal activity or resource.

Attach the appropriate documentation to the expense report.

Answer

The review is required under the university's resolution agreement with the U.S. Department of Education Office for Civil Rights.

All funds that flow through the university — including salary savings, grant funds, external funds administered by the university, and other university accounts — are institutional funds.

Yes. Required relationships supporting accreditation, licensure, certification, regulatory obligations, and essential academic or clinical responsibilities may continue.

Only when the individual has a formal, documented scholarly role or another documented academic-freedom exception. Attendance only to observe or network is not sufficient.

Only if membership is absolutely required to present or participate in the documented scholarly role — not merely to obtain a discount.

No. Academic-freedom exceptions apply only to the specific individual and activity under review.

These examples are not exhaustive. If the reviewer cannot determine whether academic freedom applies, contact Tiana before proceeding.

If an organization is considered absolutely mission critical, send a brief statement about how and why. The organization's mission/values statement is not sufficient in explaining how it is critical to the institution.
